Dear Reader,

We are happy to have you here in the September 2024 edition of the Voice of DlaDeRC. Sit back and enjoy. 🎉

P.S: For first-timers, ASMN is an acronym for African Scholars Mentorship Network. It is DlaDeRC's flagship mentorship vehicle in Africa. DlaDeRC is the acronym for DePECOS Institutions and Development Research Centre.

If you are new here, ASMN is DiaDeRC's flagship mentorship vehicle to promote African Researchers scholastic excellence and access to global opportunities. This is achieved via a four-week virtual session on grant writing and winning, publishing, mentorship, networking, and experience sharing.

This edition will be hosted in collaboration with Centre for Socially Engaged Theatre (C-SET) at the University of Regina.

The beautiful thing about this program is that seasoned experts are often invited to facilitate some of these sessions. For instance, in ASMN 3.0, we had a senior officer from DAAD, Germany and another from the University of Regina, Canada.

Come join us on this ride in this edition (ASMN 4.0) beginning on October 27, 2024. Preparations are underway and details are available here.

Latest Research Collaborations

DiaDeRC's CODESRIA-MRI Award Winning Quartet Participate in Execution Workshop in Dakar, Senegal

Consequent to the announcement published on the website of the Council for the Development of Social Science Research in Africa (CODESRIA) of winners of the 2023/2024 CODESRIA's Meaning-making Research Initiatives (MRI) competition, the quartet of DiaDeRC team members, led by the Programmes and Partnership Lead (Dr Judith I. Ani), participated in the prestigious CODESRIA Meaning-making Research Initiatives (MRI) Methodology and Scholarly Writing Workshop held at Dakar, Senegal, from 16-20 September 2024.

The quartet-winning proposal, "Climate Change-Induced Flooding: Implications for Income and Food Security among Female Smallholder Farmers in Nigeria", was one of 14 proposals selected from numerous submissions. The Methodology and Scholarly Writing Workshop provided valuable opportunities to enhance MRI winners on expected research methodologies, writing skills, and project design, with a view to ensuring the robustness of proposals and alignment with CODESRIA's thematic priorities.
